

NATO In Death Throes, while the UN COP25 Declare War on the Only Means for Survival – LaRouche’s Four Powers

The crumbling NATO alliance showed its true colors over the past two days in London. The closing press conference of the heads of state was cancelled when President Trump said he would not attend. Knowledgeable sources in the UK report that Macron left the meeting enraged. The heads of state spent most of the time attacking each other, while Secretary General Jens Stoltenberg issued a “final communique” which tried to cover up the disintegration with platitudes, while blaming Russia for the breakdown in dialogue with NATO, and warned, for the first time, that China’s rise must be countered by a united NATO.

The only important action to come out of the meetings was President Trump’s declaration that he and the American people firmly support establishing friendly relations with Russia, and that he supported the efforts of Presidents Zelensky and Putin to resolve the crisis in Ukraine. This statement was carried in the Wednesday EIR Alert Service, but a search of the internet today shows that the only other location to find this historic assertion was the White House transcript of the press conference where Trump said it. The American people are subject to a level of censorship that cannot be overstated. This is further demonstrated by the fact that the social media platforms are taking down any report including the name of the fake whistle blower who was put up to launch the current “phase three” of the attempted coup against the President of the United States, even though there is no law giving whistle blowers assured anonymity.

In Spain, where the satanic COP25 (UN Convention on Climate Change) is taking place, Secretary-General of the UN António Guterres told the opening ceremony that there must be no new coal power plants in the world, and that existing plants must be quickly closed — a prescription for genocide in Africa and elsewhere. But, what he said next captures both the insanity and the extreme danger of the ruling elite: “I’m convinced that Europe will be in a position to negotiate with China, with India, with the United States, with Russia in a way that will allow all to understand that this must be a collective effort and that they all will have to correct their policies in order to be able to drastically reduce the emissions.”

This is a declaration of economic warfare against the very world powers which Lyndon LaRouche identified as the minimum necessary combination, the “Four Powers,” capable of replacing the bankrupt British Empire, and to launch the necessary new credit system required to fuel a global economic transformation, in the spirit of the New Silk Road. Guterres is essentially declaring that the “international community” (their euphemism for the dying British Empire) will go to war to prevent these four great nations and cultures from leading the world out of the current road to Hell, and to create a world which restores the dignity of Mankind.

The current acting Prime Minister of Spain, Pedro Sanchez, told the COP25 that “only a handful of fanatics deny the evidence” of catastrophic climate change threatening civilization. Meanwhile, a large number of these “fanatics” — in fact some of the leading scientists in the world — were meeting in Madrid to counter the actual fanatics at COP25. William Happer, the renowned physicist who once headed the Princeton physics department and now promotes the CO₂ Coalition, told the gathered scientists that COP25 was a “cult” meeting, not a scientific forum.

“We have a climate crusade,” he said. “This is not science, this is religion. Crusades have a bad way of ending. Typically many, many people are hurt, no good is done, a few cynical opportunists profit and most people pay the price, and the same thing will happen with the climate crusade if we permit it to go forward, and I pray that we can stop it before it does too much damage.”

The US Congress, meanwhile, is hell-bent on sabotaging President Trump’s intention to forge world peace and development together with Russia and China. After passing the provocative Hong Kong Human Rights and Democracy Act last week, openly aligning the US Congress with the violent Jacobin gangs burning down the city and killing those in their way, the House on Tuesday passed the Uyghur Human Rights Policy Act, demanding that Trump name, for sanctions, Chinese leaders responsible for the camps in Xinjiang, which are providing a year of vocational training and education to the youth who are otherwise being subjected to terrorist propaganda. These are the same Members of Congress, voting 407-1, who dealt with the terrorist threats to the US in a very different manner than education — i.e., bombing several nations back to the stone age, killing millions and driving millions more into refugee camps. The education method works — there have been no terrorist incidents in China in three years, and the Xinjiang economy is growing rapidly — while the “bomb and kill” method does not, as witnessed by the chaos in Iraq and Libya.

Stopping the coup against the President; ending the endless wars; restoring peace through development; restoring Hamiltonian credit and banking policies; and establishing a new Bretton Woods financial system: these are all one process, as LaRouche demonstrated through his statecraft. Now is the moment of truth for our civilization.
